

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes River Access Trail— Jennings Randolph Lake

The Senator Paul S. Sarbanes River Access Trail is approximately a two hour round trip hike that extends from the Maryland Overlook to the bank of the North Branch of the Potomac River. The trail meanders across open fields through deciduous woodlands and ends on the river's edge. Look and listen for a variety of wildlife and vegetation. Take binoculars for bird watching or a fishing rod and test your skill!

Use of the trail is open to foot and bicycle traffic only. Motorized vehicles are prohibited. Please stay on the trail at all times for your safety and the security of the project. Additional rules may be found in Title 36 CFR. Area is subject to periodic closures.
